ANNOUNCEMENTS

DAVIS THEATRE.

Lukens' Winter Circus and Triangle Pictures—The Biggest Show of the Season.

Every amusement lover in the city will be in line today to see Harry Lukens' big winter circus, which is billed to appear at the Davis the next three days of this week. It will be many a day before the circus will be seen under canvas in this city, but in the Lukens' Winter Circus all of the attractions of the sawdust ring will be seen. The big feature of the organization is a mammoth production, consisting of seven of the greatest circus acts in the world. The stage is set to represent a circus from the beginning to the end there is no intermission. The mammoth production opens with Mlle. Evelyn, the world's youngest wild animal trainer, with her big mixed troupe consisting of lions, leopards and panthers, all of whom perform at the same time in a huge steel cage. This is a decidedly sensational act all the way through. The Four Sutherlands appear in wonderful feats of contortion. This family are positively America's premier contortionists. The Aerial Fausta, a man and woman, present dare-devil feats aloft on a double trapeze. Next comes Harry Lukens' big dog, pony and monkey circus, consisting of six ponies, twelve dogs and two monkeys, introducing all of the latest tricks and novelties in domestic animal training. Then in a great group act, with laughs every minute, the Powell family of five people appear in marvelous feats on the slender wire thread suspended in mid-air, introducing such wonderful tricks as turning flippers and somersaults on the small wire. No circus would be complete without a clown, and Harry Lukens has secured the Kannard Brothers, the cleverest comedy clown acrobats in the world. Closing the bill are the Four Lukens, the world's greatest casting act. The Lukens begin where others have finished, and they are the only circus of even big trick used in casting acts. A programme of Triangle photographs with Douglas Fairbanks in his picture in the Papers and the features of the show; also a two-reel Keystone comedy. Two shows will be given daily, at 2:15 and 7 p. m., the prices being: Matinee, 10c and 20c, the evening, 10c, 15c and 25c, reserved. Be sure and get in by 7:30 p. m. and see the feature picture, as it is one of the best yet.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Lack the Giant Killer, Excellent Musical Comedy and Feature Photographs Today.

An entirely different musical comedy company will be presented by the Lion Brothers at the Auditorium today of the week and will be headed by Captain George Auger, the world's tallest star, standing seven feet eleven and one-half inches in height, and a company of ten people, mostly girls, presenting the musical feature comedy Lack the Giant Killer. Supporting Mr. Auger in the cast is Ernest Romani, the smallest actor in the world, the two making quite a contrast. Three special acts of scenery are carried for the production and many features of the show will be seen. On the whole it will make a very amusing feature comedy with music, having a well balanced cast and the atmosphere of a big musical production. On the picture programme will be the Pathe Gold Rooster play, Cyril Maude in The Greater Will. It is a very strong feature, dealing with hypnotism, etc., and in the cast supporting Cyril Maude is the popular photograph actress, Lila Meredith. There will also be shown a comedy film made by the Pathe company.

For Friday and Saturday of this week the Paramount feature will be Charles Cherry in The Mummy and the Humming Bird, presented by Charles Frohman and adapted from the play of the same name by Isaac Henderson.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

The Truth About Helen, a four-part Edison masterpiece, heads the bill at this popular playhouse today, with Irene Williams, Harry Lincoln, Robert Conna, August Phillips, Carlton King, Nigel Cooper, Mrs. Wallace Erskine, Robert Brower, Herbert Prior.

Helen Moore and Raoul Kent, nephew of Senator Pootle, have been married, a year has passed and election time draws near again. Called on business to Washington, Hugh sees Helen, gorgeously gowned, and she gives him a kiss. Unconscious of the senator's identity, he follows them home, for his suspicions have been aroused. Raoul, leading a life of dissipation, climbs into the window of the senator's library, bent on a mission to steal some important papers. Hugh, seeing him, starts to rob him, but follows him into the house. In the struggle Raoul is killed. Helen and the senator rush into the room and Hugh's suspicion of her second husband is confirmed. This time Hugh accepts the nomination for congress and Gregory prepares to make public what he saw at the suburban home. He gives the editor of the daily newspaper. The editor of the paper, anxious to ascertain the truth of Gregory's accusation, begins an investigation of the case. His efforts serve to clear up the entire story. Hugh discovers how Helen came to enter the senator's household. Election day is over. Gregory and Hugh Graham are making preparations to take up his duties at Washington, and foremost among these duties is the choosing of his home, so that he may spend his days at the capital, together with his wife, Helen Moore Graham.

When War Threatened, two-part Luau drama, and The Hoodoo's Busy Day, comedy, completes today's programme. Matinee every day at 2:30 hour; all seats 5c. Evenings 7 and 10c. New show every day.

SECOND IN Y. M. C. A. COURSE.

Adams, Violinist, and Yarrick, the Magician.

Fortunate indeed will the people be who attend the second number in the Y. M. C. A. course at the association building on Friday, March 24, at 8 p. m. Elmer Crawford Adams needs no introduction to a Norwich audience, as he has on several occasions captivated his hearers. He is really a wizard of the bow.

He is as different from the ordinary violinist as black is different from white. There is about him the lightest trace of the usual or time-worn traits employed by so many players. Someone hearing him for the first time might ask of another, "What is there about his playing that is so instinctively individual?" And the one addressed might answer: "I don't know," and yet it is all so simple, he possesses what others lack—genius—his all. There is a fire and dash in his personality that glows through his fingers and thrills the audience. He has his whole soul into the music, and he forgets all of his hearers. You

FOR SALE

Special No. 2
Two-Family House
at Norwich Town
Ten acres of land, modern improvements, large barn

JAMES L. CASE
37 Shetucket St., Norwich, Conn.

FAIR FOR SALE.
Situating in North Stonington, three miles from Norwich and Westerly, near schoolhouse and church, consisting of about 100 acres of land, with 8-room house and necessary buildings, all new, immediate possession. Owner does not live in North Stonington in the season for selling. Easy terms. Inquire of H. F. BURTON, F. D. 5, Norwich, or telephone 1861-2.

Listen only for the music, now throbbing in passionate appeal, now faint as the fairy pipe, you could close your eyes and imagine yourself dancing along with Pan on the wings of a storm or treading a measure with Rowena and her suite.

His selections have been chosen carefully to best display his rare skill. The whole programme is a treat.

Joseph Farrick, the master magician, will share the programme with Mr. Adams on this occasion. He possesses a style all his own in demonstrating his power as a mystic and conjurer.

While course ticket holders will well fill the hall, there are a few single tickets left for this entertainment. They may be purchased at Y. M. C. A. at 50c each.

PUTNAM'S SPLENDID STORE.

Opening Today in All Departments at S. D. Bugbee's—Millinery, Coats, Suits, Waists, Etc., in Fashion's Display.

Window decorators were busy Wednesday making the most of their opportunity to display that many attractive new things to very best advantage. Given no evidence of the host of beautiful and dainty things in ribbons, laces, sheer materials for spring and summer wear, it occurred to no one that there was no evidence of the lack of German dyes has in any way militated against getting the most stunning results from available dyeing materials.

When goods were more nearly perfect in color combinations than in this spring of 1916.

At the B. D. Bugbee store in Putnam a wealth of new spring merchandise was arranged and ready Wednesday for this morning's opening. In the millinery department, where Mrs. A. R. Curtis has been in charge for the past five years, there was an array of hats that represent all the new and noble ideas in headwear for spring, the real spring that is only a few days away. Arrangements have been made in this department this season for special attention to out-of-town customers and immediate deliveries where required. Not only are the hats beautiful, but as liberally as possible the latest fashions in dress, in all of the trimmings, accessories and other things that go to make these departments a shrine for women at this time of the year.

The coat and suit departments are crowded with the very latest creases, all of course, from the newest things in cloths and the newest shades. Even though it snows today the women of Putnam can find solace in visiting the departments where spring, in all its beauty, is already at hand and where fashion reigns supreme.
